Bacolod officials of the Democratic Local Governance in Southeast Asia (DELGOSEA) headed by Gilda Lluisma of the Human Resources Department here had exchanged ideas with six Sangkat officials of Cambodia who arrived Monday and made the rounds of the province's tourist spots.

The Sangkat village officials are also here to observe private-public best practices in the community through infrastructure thrust and strong people-private-public partnership or PPPP.

The Cambodian officials will be here until Friday, Lluisma said, and they brought them to tour Victorias Milling Company in Victorias City and Silay City Tuesday.

A Bacolod delegation led by City Mayor Evelio R. Leonardia went to Cambodia last year to observe best infrastructure practices at Toule Sangke Sangkat.

Soy Kosal, Chief of Sangkat and National League of Communes chairman, is leading the group with Uk Khema, First Deputy Chief of Sangkat; Kruey Sokhemrith, Second Deputy Chief of Sangkat; Yuon Spohon, Vice President of the Association of Sangkat Council; Sun Lim Seng, Village Deputy Chief and Kong Chanthan DELGOSEA's project coach and interpreter.

In a press briefing Wednesday, City Administrator Roger Balo presented the city's function in governance and gave them insights about the city and the province in a video presentation.

The Cambodian officials also briefed Bacolod officials of their best practice in infrastructure back home. Bacolod officials shared their own Bacolod Youth Home.

The visitors later had a sharing session with the Liga ng mga Barangays particularly on the implementation of PPPP.

Bacolod City was chosen last year as the pilot city for Best Practice Model Replication by the Local Government Development Foundation.
